TeachVid

Description

Find 1,000s of ready-to-go materials including videos, games, and resources. Search by language the student speaks or by the language you want the video to be shown. You can also create 5 of your own videos (FREE) with activities each month.

Grade level

If the activities are done as a class, this tool will work for K-12. However, since some reading and computer skills are necessary for using this site independently, the grade level recommendation would be grades 2-12.

Multilingual learners

Multilingual students can use this site to hear the videos in their native language, while they see the text in the learned language. For example, the videos may be in English - with Spanish written on the screen. Activities are also adaptable.

FluentKey

Description

FluentKey offers game-based learning activities in 14 languages (including American Sign Language). Students view a video clip and answer listening comprehension questions as they go. Transcripts are available (to preview the video content).

Grade level

When students are using this site on their own, some basic reading skills are required. For that reason, grades 2-12 would find FluentKey most beneficial.

Multilingual learners

Listening skills are an important skill for all learners, including multilingual. FluentKey offers listening and reading skill practice in a fun and engaging format.

Every Video is an Interactive Lesson

Supercharge learning with unique tools designed for language students like interactive quizzes, speaking training, and instant feedback.

Ba Ba Dum

Description

This gamified website does not require any registration, unless you want to keep track of progress. There are 21 languages offered and 5 game types to choose from (including drag-and-drop fill in the blank, multiple choice, and matching.

Grade level

Ba Ba Dum could be used by students in any grade level as the words are both shown on the screen and shared audibly for those who cannot read. There are also images available, rather than words.

Multilingual learners

This gaming tool gives students practice in class or on their own in many different languages. This could also be useful for teachers to learn some key phrases in the students' languages or even in world language class.

Lingo Hut

Description

Use this resource with no registration required to learn over fifty languages! The games require students to read, listen, and speak. Click the microphone to record and listen to your voice. There is also a special area dedicated for ESL students.

Grade level

This site does require some basic reading skills, so it would be recommended for grades 2-12.

Multilingual learners

This resource allows students to input the language that they know and the language they would like to learn. Visit the ESL section to find additional ideas. Remember, this site does not require registration and also does not save work, consider having students screenshot their progress.

LyricsTraining

Description

LyricsTraining provided interactive videos that are used to create engaging games for students to listen and choose from a multiple choice response or fill-in-the-blank response. There are many languages, difficulty levels, and topics/categories.

Grade level

If you are playing this game as a class, all ages can play! If you are having students participate individually on their own device, this resource would work for students with basic reading skills (grade 2 and above).

Multilingual learners

While all of these listening games are useful for multilingual learners, you are also able to upload your own videos and questions to create your own personalized exercises related to what your class is learning.

Duolingo

Description

Probably the most popular of the gaming tools for multilingual learners, Duolingo provides individualized gaming experiences in over thirty different languages. The games include reading, listening, speaking, and writing.

Grade level

As this tool does require some very minimal reading experience, any student in grade one or above would be fine with this resource.

Multilingual learners

One feature that is especially helpful to multilingual learners that are learning English is that you can input the language that you are speaking and the language you are learning.

Write this in Spanish

I am a boy.

| Yo | soy | la | niña |

| un | | | | | niño | mujer | el |

Correct solution:

Yo soy un niño.

Magic School

Description

Magic School is an AI tool that you can use to produce games, questions to go along with YouTube videos, Jeopardy review games, and more. The best part is the ability to click to translate all of the AI created activities into countless other languages.

Grade level

This site does include a read aloud feature with each of the AI tools, making this site helpful to nonreaders. For this reason, Magic School could be used by students as young as kindergarten.

Multilingual learners

The most powerful part of this web tool is the ability to translate any AI created questions, quizzes, and content. This allows multilingual learners to read content in their native language with one click of a button.
