Assessment Strategies

Less Time Grading - More Time Teaching

- Ever-increasing workloads
- Streamline workflow without compromising quality of feedback
- Master time saving techniques

Formative Assessment

On-going

Identify areas students are struggling

Guides learning

Often provides immediate feedback

Quick checks or class discussions

Summative Assessment

- Evaluates learning at the end
- Unit tests or final projects
- Evaluates achievement
- Often high-stakes
- Measures if outcomes are met

High Level Tips

Gather evidence of ongoing learning

Embed brief assessments in the lessons

Adjust instruction and offer targeted feedback

Don't grade everything

Capture learning in progress - more meaningful assessments

Supports learning for students and saves educators time

Write assessments first and work backwards

Plan lessons or activities around the assessment at the end

Keep your eye on the final target and adjust as needed
