

Sunflowers nodded their
yellow heads.

The swimming pool invited me
to jump in.

The trees shivered in the winter wind.

The lamp winked at me through the window.

The moon peeked over the
treetops.

The puddle of spilled milk
crawled across the floor.

The sun smiled down on the playground.

The thunder grumbled and
growled throughout the night.

The volcano spit fire and ash
into the sky.

The rain danced on the roof.

Delicate daisies danced.

Five flying fish flew through the air.

Bees buzzed busily.

Cars crept cautiously through crowded streets.

Silvery snow fell softly.

Dark and dreary days are depressing.

Proud peacocks pranced
across the park.

Trembling trees were tossed
by the tornado.

The lovely lady looked lonely.

The nests were built by blue birds.